Meeting with Student Volunteer's Parents at Romlech

In this 4th quarter 2017, JGG conducted the quarterly meeting with the parents of the student volunteers at JGG Learning Centre at Romlech in order to update them about JGG Program and further understanding of being involved in JGG program and how they can explain to their children the importance of education. The meetings were arranged following a schedule and the parents received an invitation from JGG. They participated and expressed their opinions, encouragement and they promised they would have motivated the children to learn hard at school and home.

JGG found that parental involvement or parent's contact to JGG and the program was very important to ensure their children or students to get successful learning, changes, graduations, and good morality because both JGG and their parents always wanted their children or students to succeed and graduated with the knowledge and skills they wished for their bright future.
